PROFILE

<Hi>

My name is Miguel, and I am delighted to introduce myself as a digital design student and frontend developer. I have a genuine passion for creating engaging user experiences that leave a positive impact. Drawing from my extensive background in customer service spanning over 8 years across various industries, I have developed a well-rounded skill set that blends design, development, team player and a strong customer-centric approach. Today, I would like to take you on a journey through my experiences, showcase my skills, and explore the exciting career paths that my diverse background has opened up for me. Let's embark on this exploration of the captivating world of digital design and frontend development together.
